HEALTHY HABITS: WHY PREVENTION AND ACCESS MATTER

11.10.20

9:00 AM - 10:00 AM

A substantial proportion of cancers could be prevented. According to a recent study by American Cancer Society researchers, at least 42% of newly diagnosed cancers in the US – about 750,000 cases in 2020 – are potentially avoidable. For nearly three decades, the cancer death rate in the United States has steadily decreased, but not all individuals have equally benefited from the advances in cancer prevention, early detection.

Join us for a discussion on the importance of health equity, prevention and what can be done to stop cancer from even starting.
