

In the past two decades, melanoma incidence has risen by 20%
among Hispanics.

BE INFORMED.
GET SCREENED.

<https://go.rutgers.edu/Screen4SkinCancer>

RWJBarnabas
HEALTH

RUTGERS
Cancer Institute of New Jersey
RUTGERS HEALTH

Late-stage melanoma diagnoses are more prevalent among Black and Hispanic patients than non-Hispanic white patients.

BE INFORMED. GET SCREENED.

<https://go.rutgers.edu/Screen4SkinCancer>

RWJBarnabas
HEALTH

RUTGERS Cancer Institute of New Jersey
RUTGERS HEALTH

